Everyone wants to be a successful affiliate marketer. The thing is, so many people skip the essential starting points necessary for them to reach that status. Here are the three tools needed for you to make affiliate marketing superstardom a reality for you. Affiliate marketing is said to be a simple and quick way to get started earning money online. The fact is, it's not that simple nor that quick. The truly successful affiliate marketers - the superstars of the business - actually plan and map out every step they make in preparing and promoting their affiliate products. To increase the potential to earn the highest rate of conversion in affiliate marketing, certain tools are necessary to build a successful affiliate marketing business. What are these tools? The most successful internet marketers all have three essential tools they use to create their success and ensure passive income for a long time to come. Essential Tool Number

One: Your Own Website. This has to be the most important tool in creating success in affiliate marketing. Some will say it is not necessary, that you can simply promote products through squeeze pages. This may be true for limited success but not for long-term business success. A truly successful affiliate marketing business is built upon a professional looking, informative, and helpful website. Here all of your marketing efforts will begin, leading off to the various products and services you promote. It is essential that you first focus on creating a website filled with content that will cater to your audience and reach out to their needs. Provide original, relevant and useful content. People will seek out information and help for free and only pay for it if they trust the source they are purchasing from. Gain that by providing them information and sincere advice through free content. In doing so, you establish yourself as an expert in the field and a person wanting to help them obtain the information they need. When they do look at the products you offer, you will have established a feeling of trust and the product will be received as one you recommend to them. Not only will they be inclined to purchase through your affiliate link, they will return to your site for future information and product recommendations.

Essential Tool Number Two: Enticements and Bonuses. There are a lot of affiliate marketers in the internet world. To improve your odds of success you have to go the extra mile to gain customers in your target market. To do so you will need to provide some sort of enticement or bonus to get people to click on your links to get to the products you are promoting. One great way to do this, and at the same time build an opt-in email list to create an interested customer base, is to present a free email how-to course relevant to the product being considered. Offer a freebie like this and you greatly increase your chances of gaining the customer.

Essential Tool Number Three: Traffic Generation. Once you have a website filled with great content and promotion of products and services to offer to your target market your next and perhaps most valuable tool for ongoing success is gaining targeted traffic. Web traffic is an extremely valuable commodity in the internet world. Without visitors to your site you might as well be talking to the wind. One of the most successful ways to gain traffic free of charge is to write articles of information submit them to articles directories and ezine lists. With information about your site and a link placed in the resource box, you build your reputation in the market as someone of expertise and the link gets you free advertising, delivering people to your site. The more articles you submit and get placed, the better your link popularity will be. But you definitely want to write articles of great content that are original and helpful. If a webmaster likes your article and publishes it on his or her site, this will greatly increase the clicks on your link and traffic to your website.

These are the three top tools to creating a starting point for you to become an affiliate marketing superstar. Put them into practice and continue to use them to build your business and you will be rocking and rolling in affiliate sales for a long time to come.
