Before proceeding further, I would like to mention that whatever you are about to read might not appeal to some people. But you have to ask yourself "Do I really want to earn from adsense or do I want to be one of the countless many who are lying in the adsense grave?". If you decide that you want to be an adsense winner, then welcome to the club! I can tell you that what you will read will help you make a killing with adsense. When I started my adsense business, I had only 1 site - and that site paid me just a few cents every day. I cried, wailed, but Google didn't even notice me. I cried again the next week, and the week after that, but there was no change in my adsense earning! Looking at my income, I felt no better than a beggar on the street, with just a few spare changes in his bowl. Thankfully, I soon realized that it was foolish to depend on just 1 niche. I understood that I did not have the power to convert a low-paying niche into a high-paying one. But I did have the power to choose my niches. No one could stop me from that. Most people complain that they are not making any money with adsense. When I ask them how many niches they're in or how many sites they have, the answer is usually 3-4. You see, it is almost impossible to earn from adsense with just 1 site unless you get thousands of visitors every day. But i assume you do not have that kind of a traffic, right? Otherwise you wouldn't have been reading this! If you have just 1-2 niches, I can promise you with 100% confidence - you will not be happy looking at your adsense earnings! If you want to be a big player, you will have to diversify into hundreds of niches. Yes, there is a bit of work involved. But you have to consider this as a business. If you treat it like a business, it will pay you like a business. If you decide to do this work yourself, it might take you 1-2 months or maybe 3 months. But its all worth it. Another better option is to outsource this work and have other people do it for you. Your outsourcing investment will be recovered soon, very soon. Trust me on this. We have to focus on quantity and volume. We want to play in big numbers. Only that will take us towards the pearly gates of the "kingdom of adsense!" You know, there is something really funny about niches. The way some niches work often defies logic. Niches that you think would be high paying may prove to be total disasters. And niches that seem to be hopeless, might turn out to be real winners. It really has nothing to do with competition. I always say that you can never be 100% sure about which niches would be profitable and which won't. I have learned that if I go into 10 markets, there will be around 6 that will will be winners. So if I want 300 profitable sites, I need to make around 500 sites. If you ask me, I feel this is much easier than searching "the best niches". out there. It is just like throwing enough stuff onto the wall and see what sticks. Once I understood this basic truth, I spent the next few months, making hundreds of mini sites. In fact I created well over 500 sites. In order to keep Google happy, I had some decent content on each of my sites. I drove traffic through my sites using pay-per-click, as that was the most convenient way of giving me instant results. After regular testing and monitoring, I found that many of those sites were not paying me. I scrapped them, and concentrated on those that were good. And my adsense income has never been the same again. I am also about to tell you something that might make some of you feel uneasy. You must have heard that you should have lots of content on your site. "Content is king", right? But my views are a bit different here. If you want to build an adsense business, I think "content is not the king!" Yes, you should have good content on your site, and you should also comply with Google's policies. But do not get overly obsessed with putting very high quality content on your adsense sites. Here's why. We should not forget that our main aim is to make people click on our adsense ads. Our aim is NOT to provide our visitors everything that they are looking for. If we give them enough content, they will get everything they want and will not click on our adsense Ads. If you put really good content on your sites, you will be left with happy visitors, and sad earnings. You decide what you want. I want happy earnings. What about you? What I have outlined above is a fool-proof way from earning massive checks from adsense. The only thing that prevents you from earing $300 or even $500 a day in adSense is numbers. Just rinse-and-repeat the process and get into as many number of niches as possible. Work smarter by outsourcing as much as possible. The adsense business has got nothing to do with luck. It has got everything to do with volume. As I said, this involves some work. But the effort you put in would give you excellent results. Armed with this knowledge you can almost dictate your adsense earnings.
